About Kasane

In Japanese, “Kasane” means “stack”

Not only when stacking plates or bowls, we Japanese also use the word for making history or building trust ….

We say, Kasane history or Kasane trust.

Since the company establishment, we at Yamakyu Japanware Co., have been working over 90 years to develop Urushi products without rushing, keeping and stacking the tradition and trust.

The time is changing from the era of busily running and rushing always to the era of spending each day in your own way, slowly and comfortably. All Kasane products are designed and made to help you when you want to enjoy your relaxing time.

Another big advantage of Kasane products is the fact that “the more you use it in your daily life, the more beautiful it will become”.

Protecting and keeping the tradition of Urushi culture, we will continue stacking the new technique, beauty, colors, materials and culture with you, and for you.

Sincerely,

Taizo Yamamoto, CEO
Yamakyu Japanware Co., Ltd.

Togikasurei*¹

New urushi painting technique with a ceramic-like texture that is easy to use. The surface texture is different from regular lacquerware.

Material type

- A: Natural Wood
- B: Wood powder and synthetic resin moldings
- C: Urea resin
- D: ABS resin

Coating type

- A: Urushi lacquer
- B: Mixing urushi and urethane
- C: Urethan paint
- D: Acrylic paint

Fuki-urushi*²

A technique whereby raw lacquer is applied and then wiped off repeatedly with a cotton cloth. Also called Suri-urushi. It shows the texture and grain of the wood.
